Agreements

4 Act not to interfere with agreements

Except as provided in section 6, nothing in this Act shall affect any covenant, contract, or agreement made between landlord and tenant, or between any adjoining occupiers, or between any other persons, relating to work on a fence or to the question of whether or not any such work should be undertaken; but no such covenant, contract, or agreement shall create an interest in land.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 6

5 Fencing covenants and agreements registrable

- (1) Fencing covenants and fencing agreements relating to land subject to the Land Transfer Act 1952 may be registered under that Act against the title to that land.
- (2) Subject to section 6, the burden of any fencing covenant or fencing agreement that is registered against the title to the land to which it relates shall run with the land, whether or not assigns are named in the covenant or agreement.

6 Registration of fencing covenants to expire after 12 years

- (1) Where a fencing covenant is registered under the Land Transfer Act 1952 after the commencement of this Act, or where a covenant, agreement, or proviso (being a fencing covenant within the meaning of this Act) was registered under the Land Transfer Act 1952 before the commencement of this Act by virtue of section 7 of the Fencing Act 1908, the registration of the covenant, agreement, or proviso shall expire after the expiration of 12 years from the date of the registration or the date of the commencement of this Act, whichever is the later.
- (2) Nothing in subsection (1) applies in respect of a fencing covenant that protects a local authority from liability to contribute towards any work on a fence between a public reserve vested in or administered by that local authority and any adjoining land.

7 Creation of fencing covenants

Without affecting any other manner in which a fencing covenant may be created, a fencing covenant by the transferee of any land may be created by—

 - (a) with the consent of the occupier of that land; or
 - (b) pursuant to an order of the court made under section 24.
- (2) Where any fence erected otherwise than in accordance with subsection (1) encroaches upon any land of which the person who erected the fence is not the occupier, the occupier of that land may apply to the court for an order that the fence be removed; and the court shall order the removal of the fence (at the expense of the person who erected it) unless it is satisfied—
 - (a) that the degree of encroachment is minimal; and
 - (b) that the encroachment in no way adversely affects the use and enjoyment of his land by the applicant.
- (3) Nothing in this section applies in respect of a fence erected before the commencement of this Act.

Part 3

Liability for work on a fence

Where any person is required to provide a fence in order to comply with the Fencing of Swimming Pools Act 1987—

- (b) no person, other than the owner of the swimming pool, shall be required to make any contribution under this Act to the work on a fence greater than the contribution that the person would be required to make to the work on a fence (whether of the same type or not) if the swimming pool did not exist.

- (2) A cross-notice shall be in form 2 of Schedule 1 or to the like effect, and any work proposed in a cross-notice to be carried out shall be specified with the same particularity as is required in the case of a notice by subsection (2) of section 10.
- (3) If the occupier receiving a notice fails to serve a cross-notice within the said period of 21 days, he shall be deemed to have agreed to the proposals set out in the notice served on him.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 13

12 Service of notices

- (1) Any notice or cross-notice required or authorised by this Act to be served on any person shall be delivered to that person, and may be delivered to him either personally or by posting it by registered letter addressed to that person at his last known place of abode or business in New Zealand. A notice or cross-notice so posted shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the registered letter would in the ordinary course of post be delivered.
- (2) If the person is absent from New Zealand, the notice or cross-notice may be delivered as aforesaid to his agent in New Zealand. If he is dead the notice or cross-notice may be delivered as aforesaid to his administrator.
- (3) If the person is not known, or is absent from New Zealand and has no known agent in New Zealand, or is deceased and has no administrator, the notice or cross-notice shall be delivered in such manner as may be directed by an order of the court.

13 Where notices vary

If a notice and cross-notice have been duly served or if notices to do work have been duly served and the proposals in those notices do not correspond, then (unless within 21 days after the date of the service of the last notice or cross-notice the differences are resolved by agreement) the matters in dispute may be determined by the court in manner hereafter provided in this Act.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 14

14 Provision for doing work

- (1) Where a person serves notice under this Act in respect of work on a fence, he may proceed to do the work—
- (a) after the expiration of 21 days from the date of the service of the notice if he is not duly served with a cross-notice within that period; or
 - (b) if before the expiration of the said period of 21 days he is duly served with such a cross-notice, as soon as all differences between the parties are resolved either by agreement or by the court.
- (2) If the person who served the notice fails to commence to do the work within 28 days commencing on the day on which he first became entitled to commence the work or such longer period as may be agreed to by the parties or fixed by the court (in this section referred to as the prescribed period) either party may thereupon, or at any time within 90 days thereafter, proceed to do the work.
- (3) If the party who last proceeded to do the work fails for a period of 28 days to carry out the work with due diligence, the other party may proceed to complete the work.

- (4) If for any period of 90 days after the expiration of the prescribed period and before the completion of the work neither party does any part of the work, all notices, cross-notices, agreements, and orders relating to the work (other than agreements and orders to which subsection (5) applies) shall, in relation to the uncompleted part of the work, lapse and become of no effect, but nothing in this subsection shall restrict the giving of further notices and cross-notices or the making of further agreements or orders.
- (5) At any time before or after the expiration of any period of 90 days to which subsection (2) or subsection (4) applies, the period may be extended either by agreement of the parties or order of the court.
- (6) Where in accordance with this section either party does any work on a fence, he may recover from the other party as a debt the other party's proportion of the cost of the work done.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 17

15 Effect of change of occupier

Where a notice or cross-notice is duly given by the occupier of any land to the occupier of any other land in accordance with this Act, but, before the matter is settled (whether by agreement or order of the court), one of the parties disposes of his interest in either of the parcels of land concerned, the notice or cross-notice shall cease to have effect.

16 Contribution where immediate work required

Subject to the provisions of section 17, if any fence is damaged or destroyed by sudden accident or other cause and requires immediate work, either of the adjoining occupiers may do that work without any notice, and may recover half the cost thereof from the other occupier.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 33

17 Liability for damage caused by occupier

If any fence is damaged or destroyed in circumstances in which, apart from this Act, an occupier would be liable therefor, he shall be liable for the whole cost of making good the fence.

18 Person taking advantage of fence

- (1) In any case where there is a fence along the boundary between any land and a road, if a person (other than the owner or occupier or some other person lawfully in possession of that land) adopts or takes advantage of any means by which the fence is rendered of beneficial use to himself, or avails himself of the fence, the occupier of that land may serve on that other person a notice in writing requiring him to pay interest at the rate of 10% per annum on half the value of the fence at the time of the serving of the notice; and, so long as that other person continues to take advantage or avail himself of the fence, he shall be liable to pay that interest to the giver of the notice or his successor in title, and he shall also be liable for repairs to the fence as if he were an adjoining occupier.

- (2) In any case where a notice in respect of a fence has been served under subsection (1) and the value of the fence subsequently increases, a further notice in respect of the fence may be served under that subsection and the provisions of that subsection shall apply accordingly in respect of that further notice.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 25

19 Fence erected when occupier of adjoining land exempt from liability therefor

- (1) Where at the time when any fence was erected the occupier of the land on one side thereof had, by reason of section 3 or of the Fencing Act 1908 or any corresponding former Act, no liability to contribute to the cost of the erection, if the occupier for the time being of that land has thereafter become liable to contribute to the cost of work on that fence—

- (a) the person who erected the fence, or his successor in title, may serve upon the occupier of that land a notice in writing requiring him to pay an appropriate share of the value of the fence at the time when the notice is served taking into account any contributions made towards the cost of the erection and maintenance of that fence by any occupier of that land; and
- (b) that occupier shall, within 1 month after receiving the notice, pay that share to the person who erected the fence, or to his successor in title, and so long thereafter as he continues to be the occupier shall be liable to bear half the cost of work on the fence.

- (2) This section shall not apply in any case where the exemption from liability to contribute to the cost of the erection of a fence arose by reason of a fencing covenant or any other covenant, agreement, or proviso relating to fencing.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 19

20 Crown tenant's option

Where a fence was erected under the provisions of the Fencing Act 1908 dividing any land held by any person as Crown tenant from any adjoining land, and, before the commencement of this Act, the tenant exercised the option conferred on him by section 20 of the Fencing Act 1908 to pay to the person who erected the fence, or to his successor in title, interest on the proportionate share of the cost of erecting the fence for which he may have been liable as an occupier instead of paying that proportionate share, that Crown tenant shall continue to be liable to pay to that other person (or his successor in title) interest on that share at that rate during his term of occupation of the Crown land.

Compare: 1908 No 61 s 20

21 Give and take fence

- (1) Where it is impracticable or undesirable to erect a fence on the boundary of adjoining lands, and the occupiers cannot agree upon a line of fence on either side of that boundary, the line of the fence shall be determined by the court in manner hereafter provided in this section.
- (2) The court may inspect, or may appoint 1 or more persons to inspect, the proposed line of fence, and shall determine whether a fence is necessary, and (if so) what line is to be adopted; and whether any, and (if so) what compensation (whether an annual payment or otherwise) is to be made to either of the occupiers in consideration of loss of occupation of land.
- (3) The reasonable costs of inspection shall be borne as the court in its discretion shall direct.
- (4) The occupation of lands on either side of the line of fence shall not constitute a tenancy or be deemed adverse possession, and shall not affect the title to or possession of any lands, save for the purposes of this Act.

22 Where fence to be built

Save as otherwise agreed or ordered by the court, the middle of a fence shall be upon the boundary line:

provided that, where a fence is supported by or formed about posts, the posts shall be placed on the boundary line or as near thereto as practicable.
