Once again I have the privilege of presenting the Chair's report on behalf of the board of trustees, Te Haaro.

It has been an exceptional year in many ways, including a significant increase in revenue, a lift in staff costs/salaries and wages to $13.8 million per year, and a modest surplus on the bottom line.

TeTaiwhenua o Heretaunga has many new initiatives underway.

The Kete Māori Business development programme is supporting whānau to realise their aspirations of developing their own businesses.

The Takatū rangatahi programme, with its #Learners2Earner$ driver licencing tuition, is equipping rangatahi in gaining the qualifications needed to take up employment in commercial driving.

Our new Waingākau Suburb in Flaxmere is going to produce more than 120 affordable homes in a mixed model of rental and ownership. Construction is scheduled to begin in the second quarter of 2019.

These are just three examples of initiatives undertaken by TToH to enable whānau to make extraordinary changes to their lives and those around them.

Such programmes would not be possible without our participation in a network of collaborative partnerships with shared vision and the determination to make a real difference – moving the ambulance from the bottom of the cliff to the top.

In June this year, TToH presented the third Matariki Living Taonga Awards, which saw 11 awards presented to outstanding recipients from across Heretaunga.

It was an impressive evening, befitting the mana of the occasion. Te Haaro congratulates once again all the recipients.

Thank you to everyone who played a part in bringing the community together for such a prestigious celebration. I look forward to the next Matariki Living Taonga Awards in 2021.

As this report goes to print, the 2018 elections for our board of trustees will be underway. These take place in three phases:

- Our marae elect 13 trustees
- The Chair and Deputy Chair are elected from among those 13 trustees
- The two marae whose elected trustees have been appointed as Chair and Deputy Chair vote again to elect two replacement trustees

This process normally takes just over three months, and produces a board of 15 trustees. Their term of office will run from 1 January 2019 to 31 December 2021.

I would like to thank the current board of trustees for their service. They are owed a huge "thank you" for the time and effort they have put into acquitting their duties with diligence and good faith.

The role of our trustees has changed vastly from what it was 33 years ago when TToH was established. They are now required to shoulder all the legal responsibilities of a corporate board of directors.

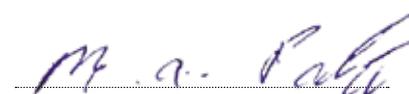

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the very able leadership of our two executive officers – CEO George Reedy and Te Kaihautū Marei Apatu – who give 110 percent effort to uplift our whānau, hapū and hāpori (community), and the hard work of our staff.

Te Haaro o Te Kaahu, ki tuawhakarere.

Tēnā koutou katoa

I can honestly say it's never been more interesting, exciting and challenging at Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga than it is right now.

It used to be that the contracts we and other NGOs signed up for were neat parcels of deliverables. Staff to hire, actions to take, boxes to tick. Job done. These contracts would fit within a particular government's manifesto and a civil servant's portfolio of responsibilities. Officially, we simply did a piece of work on their behalf, and reported the data.

Unofficially, we have always done more than what's set out in a contract. Some call it over-delivering. We call it common sense. A bit of extra support for a whānau can be the difference between a result and an effective result.

Fortunately, we are now commonly working in partnership with various government agencies to co-design solutions to increasingly complex and difficult community issues. It's an opportunity for us to identify and tackle high-priority areas of need. That includes housing and health.

The current housing shortage has been very hard for our struggling communities. Some of the whānau we work with are entangled in a net of contradictions around benefits, income and eligibility for different forms of support. Some have become disconnected, transient, exhausted. Tamariki who constantly change homes and schools are slipping backward in their learning. Only a co-ordinated response is going to resolve even some of these issues.

TToH has had great success in emergency housing through Te Whare Huakina during the past 12 months, but we're looking beyond that, to permanent, secure family homes. Waingakau Housing Development at Flaxmere will be an exemplar of innovative, affordable, supportive and secure community living.

We're also doing a lot of work around the Alaskan values-based model of healthcare known as Nuka. Put in very simple terms, Nuka enables patients to take ownership of their own healthcare. It would be a game-changer for whānau, so TToH has picked up the wero.

My thanks to TToH staff and trustees; our business partners, stakeholders, sponsors, funders and all those who support the kaupapa of Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga in so many ways.

Rakaihikuroa's plea for a single leader for his people

Heretaunga ararau - the many pathways that lead into the Hastings District -- is growing and expanding to become a peri-urban environ where the town edge meets (and erodes) the values of some of our best cropping land. The same is happening in a cultural and spiritual sense.

Everywhere I look, there is new development. Orchards, coolstores, warehouses, industrial buildings, vineyards, large-scale cropping and housing subdivisions are springing up. Our main roads are under pressure from increased traffic. Our airport is undergoing massive expansion, and our port is looking for the funds to do likewise. Tourism has romped away and people are moving in droves to live in the Bay. There are plenty of jobs.

It's a rosy picture, but there is a downside. There is always a cost, and for Heretaunga / Hastings District / Hawke's Bay, that cost is very often social and environmental.

All the indicators demonstrate a huge and growing disparity in wealth and cultural wellness as the rich get richer in a society driven by development for economic objectives.

TToH itself is growing, in order to deliver on whānau expectations. We'll know whether we are on the right pathway. They'll tell us. Thank goodness these important matters are in the good hands of my colleague Te Kaiwhakahaere Matua, George Reedy.

My attention is focused firmly on our taonga, he wai – the waters created by Ranginui to flow upon Hinetuparimaunga, and through the veins of Tangaroa through and over Papatūānuku to Te Moananui A Kiwa.

Much of our surface and groundwaters are already over-allocated. New developments will require even more water. Where will that come from? Various climate change scenarios indicate there is going to be less water available. That means water storage, water quality, and drinking water supplies are all going to be affected.

Existing supplies are already suffering the effects of decades of over-allocation, heavy extraction and pollution. Now we find ourselves discussing how low a low-flow can be; how much water a fish needs to survive; who has the right to extract large volumes of water; who pays when a river fills with nitrates; and who sets all the rules around this.

These are ongoing debates in which TToH's Te Manaaki Taiao unit is heavily involved.

The scope of our work has also extended to become a central agency in consultation around matters of cultural impact on communities and landscapes, and the wider development of communities and hapū/marae.

As the leader of Te Manaaki Taiao, I am privileged to be able to bring a Māori perspective to many different forums concerned with so many different areas of modern life.

I believe the historical kaitiaki role and perspective of te ao Māori is more important than ever.

At the core is cultural identity and the wellbeing of te iwi Māori mātauranga reo tikanga kaupapa o Takitimu.

Tīhei Kahungunu!

Strong Whānau, Vibrant Communities

Our Whānau

Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga supports more than 11,000 whānau of all ages, in many different ways. This includes free GP visits and community care, practical support and advocacy, housing, education, counselling and therapies.

These are all based on the cultural model of Te Whare Tapa Whā, created by Sir Mason Durie. It means we work with whānau holistically, through integrated, personalised packages of care and support, to build physical, mental, spiritual and family wellbeing.

TToH has more than 33 years of experience in working with whānau this way. The results demonstrate clearly that caring for the whole person brings exponentially greater benefits than focusing on just one area of need or support.

Strong individuals and families create strong and vibrant communities.

Who We Are

Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga is the mandated political and social leader of Ngāti Kahungunu ki Heretaunga. The area (taiwhenua) of Heretaunga sits within Hastings District.

Fourteen marae are represented by the 15 trustees elected to the TToH board of governance, Te Haaro

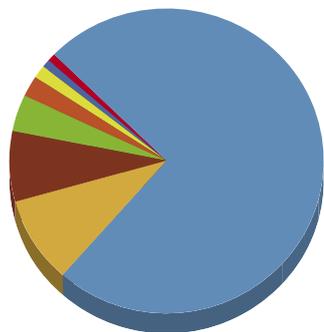

TToH's main campus is in Hastings but our staff work in all the places marked on this map, caring, supporting and helping whānau to achieve their goals.

Since the recent merger of TToH and Waipukurau-based Central Health, whānau across Heretaunga and Tamatea are now able to access a much greater range of care and support.

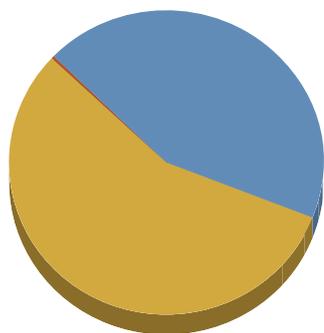

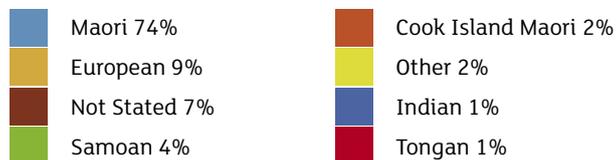

We also have staff based in Wairoa, Napier, Hastings, Waipukurau, Otane, Dannevirke, Masterton, and Wellington region, working with whānau across the Ngāti Kahungunu rohe from Mahia to Wellington.

Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga also supports the community in non-monetary ways. An example of this was to host a group of EIT carpentry students and their tutors on campus as they gained practical experience for their qualifications by building a transportable whare.

We also offer the community the use of our well-equipped conference, exhibition and event spaces at very affordable rates.

Tamariki and Whānau

Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga is a family-focused and values-based organisation. We have many options for whānau who feel they need a helping hand. Whether it's healthcare, wellness, personal development, advocacy or education, we're here to help.

Te Tirahou Childcare Centre

Te Tirahou is an exciting bilingual pre-school experience for tamariki aged 2-5. Based in a purpose-built childcare centre here at Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga, the tamariki at Te Tirahou are an integral part of daily life on campus. They enjoy:

FREE Kai

- Nutritious snacks and lunch provided to all enrolled tamariki.

FREE GP Visits

- Every tamariki enrolled at Te Tirahou is entitled to free GP visits and dental care at TToH's medical centre, Hauora Heretaunga. Whānau can also enrol at Hauora Heretaunga if they do not already have a GP.

FREE transport

- Te Tirahou provides free pick-ups and drop-offs for all enrolled tamariki.

FREE 20 hours

- All tamariki aged 2.5 – 5 years are entitled to 20 free hours each week. Some may also qualify for extra subsidies.

For more information, go to www.tetirahou@ttoh.iwi.nz

Bring Your Kids To Work Day

Recently, on a day when all the schools were closed, we invited TToH staff to bring their primary school-aged tamariki to work for the day. The tamariki were able to see where mum or dad worked, and enjoy a fantastic day of games, dancing, cupcake decorating, arts and craft and movies.

Rangatahi

Rangatahi face many challenges getting into the workforce. It's our goal at Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga to help them overcome the biggest obstacles standing in their way. One of the most effective ways we can do that is to help them get their driver licences, from Learners through to Endorsed.

The Takatū rangatahi driver licence programme -- #Learners2Earner$ -- run by TToH as part of the Takitimu Ora collective, helps rangatahi through all levels of licencing so they are eligible to apply for commercial driving jobs.

Rangatahi are achieving these life-changing milestones thanks to volunteers who give their own spare time to coach and support them through each level of licencing. TToH is very grateful to those mentors, who include Takitimu Ora, Hastings Police, iHow, Formula Driving, SKM and Maungaharuru-Tangitu. Working together, we are able to make it happen for rangatahi.

When she was 12, she urged her kura kaupapa to apply for secondary school status so she wouldn't have to go to another school for her secondary education. The school applied and she stayed.

She went on to excel in her studies, and became the Student Representative on the board of trustees for her school (Te Wharekura o Te Wānanga Whare Tapere o Takitimu)

Harono was the first pupil from her school to become a member of the Hastings District Youth Council.

In 2015 she received a Sir Peter Blake Leadership Award.

In 2016, she was selected to go to Stanford University with a group to study Stem Cell research.

Community Housing

Affordable homes for whānau are in extremely short supply. This is creating many health and social problems, with no immediate end in sight.

Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga has therefore decided to facilitate the construction of a whole new suburb, Waingākau, at Flaxmere.

Waingākau, currently in design phase, will be a collective of modern, high-quality homes featuring up-to-the-minute trends in sustainable housing. Catering for single people and families, Waingākau will also include eco-friendly features such as solar heating, a food forest and community food gardens.

Te Whare Huakina

For the past fifteen months, Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga has achieved great results in partnership with Emerge Aotearoa, providing emergency housing across Hawke's Bay.

Their joint programme, Te Whare Huakina, offers whānau 12 weeks emergency accommodation plus wraparound support while we help them find permanent homes. During the first 12 months, Te Whare Huakina placed more than 200 whānau into secure homes.

The name Te Whare Huakina derives from the whakatauaiki "Huakina te tatau o te whare" (Open the door of the house). This means opening the door to a warm, dry and safe home for the short term, and better opportunities in the long-term.

ABOVE: Taiwhenua nurses work hard to ensure whānau are able to get the care and advice they need to enjoy good health.

FREE Health Checks at Community Clinics

We know how difficult it can be for whānau to get to the doctor, so we've set up a few different ways for whānau to get a FREE health check out in the community.

At Te Whare Pukenga in Geddis Ave, Napier, we run FREE whānau health checks every Monday morning, and FREE Well Child Tamariki Ora health checks every Thursday morning.

The clinics are open to all whānau.

Taiwhenua Pharmacy

The opening of Taiwhenua Pharmacy in February was another big step forward in our kaupapa to ensure whānau have access to high quality health care and support.

As an integral part of our medical and dental centre, Hauora Heretaunga, it has created a one-stop shop for whānau and enabled us to help them manage their medication and health.

Health Care That Works For Whānau

Late last year, a team of staff from TToH was fortunate to join a Ngāti Kahungunu delegation to Alaska, to observe first-hand the highly-successful Nuka system of healthcare.

Nuka is operated by the South Central Foundation in conjunction with the Alaska Native population. It uses a system carefully designed to offer healthcare in ways that are helpful and meaningful to the indigenous population. This includes traditional Alaskan healing (rongoā). TToH is now investigating how elements of Nuka could be added to the health and wellbeing options we offer whānau.

The venue for our 2018 noho was Te Aute College at Pukehou in Central Hawke's Bay. TToH is now offering a wide range of healthcare, wellness therapies, personal development and education programmes to whānau in CHB.

A Safe and Healthy Workplace

With the support of independent advisers Franz Assenmacher (Chairperson) of Site Safe, Robyn Ross, and John Paterson, from ACC the Health and Safety Audit Committee has developed a framework of critical risks and mitigations, to ensure TToH is a safe and healthy workplace.

Managing Risk

Jackie Pearse, Tom Manaena and Elizabeth Carr bring independent legal and accounting expertise to the TToH Audit and Risk Committee, ensuring the organisation's financial and other affairs are conducted in accordance with all legal and professional requirements.

Financial Summary

During the financial year 1 July 2017 to 30 June 2018, Te Taiwhenua o Heretaunga recorded revenue of $20.5m and a net surplus of $514k.

The purchase of Central Health in September 2017 added an additional $4m in contract income.

An unqualified audit opinion was issued for the year ended 30 June 2018.

Revenues

Revenue increased from $14.7m to $20.5m during the year. Over the past four years, revenue has increased by 48%. In this year alone, there has been an increase in revenue by 39%, largely due to the purchase of the Central Health service contracts.

Net Profits

The overall result is pleasing at $514k, given the past five years have been very challenging for TToH. This is the second consecutive year where a surplus has been recorded and it is encouraging despite the fact that TToH receives few, if any, cost of living increases from existing contracts.

Asset Base Sheet

The organisation continues to have a strong balance sheet. As at 30 June 2018, it had accumulated reserves of $10.9m. This takes into account that Heretaunga Park Complex is recorded in the balance sheet at the historic cost of $4m. However, the insured value of this asset is $10m.

The organisation is liquid and is able to meet its short-term liabilities ($3m). Investment opportunities increased the portfolio by $1.9m during the year. The portfolio is a mechanism by which the organisation can achieve its long-term financial goals.

With a strong balance sheet, the organisation will continue to weather the difficult contracting environment it operates in.

Financial History

The assets of TToH have been built up over 33 years through commercial contracts with government agencies and the investment of the Trust's financial surpluses.

The assets have not been derived either directly or indirectly from Treaty Settlement funds.

Legally, the Trust owns the assets. Therefore only Te Haaro can use these assets for the charitable purposes stated in the Trust Deed.

TToH has operated successfully for many years through informed decision making and careful management.
